Auburn to celebrate Nov. 9-10

Centennial Homecoming 1856-1956

HISTORY AND Homecoming will be blended into a gala Centennial weekend at Alabama Polytechnic Institute Nov. 9-10, as students and alumni celebrate 100 years of service to the people of Alabama.

Highlighting the Centennial program will be a dramatic narrative, showing the determined efforts of a handful of men to establish a college at Auburn. The performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9, in historic Langdon Hall.

Reunions are scheduled for members of the Classes of 1906, 1911 and 1931. Registration for reunion classes and other alumni will be held in the Alumni Association office from 1-6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9.

Other traditional Homecoming events are also on the weekend calendar. These include a pep rally, two dances, open houses at fraternities, and the annual meeting of the Auburn Alumni Association. Auburn will meet Mississippi State at Cliff Hare Stadium in a football classic at 2 p.m. Saturday.

A Centennial theme will be adopted for fraternity house lawn decorations.

100 years ago

IT WAS ON Feb. 1, 1856, that the Alabama Legislature—over the governor's veto—issued a charter for a new Methodist college in Auburn. This school opened its doors in 1859 as the East Alabama Male College.

Earlier, the Methodists had split over the issue of where to locate the new school. Greensboro as well as Auburn made a determined bid.

The Methodist Conference deeded the college to the State of Alabama and Auburn became a land-grant college in 1872. The Legislature changed the name to Alabama Polytechnic Institute in 1899.

A Centennial committee, headed by Charles W. Edwards, '20, API Registrar, was appointed earlier this year to work out plans for an appropriate observance of the 100th anniversary of the college's chartering.

Writing the script was the job assigned to Mrs. Hollifield Jones, '02, Auburn historian, and members of a special sub-committee. Assisting Chairman Hollifield Jones were Mr. Edwards, Telfair B. Peet, professor of dramatic arts who will direct the narrative, and Ed

HISTORIC LANGDON Hall will be the scene of Auburn's Centennial program Friday, Nov. 9. The building is the only present campus structure which was used for classes by East Alabama Male College. Standing in front of Langdon Hall are members of the script committee of the Centennial. They are Charles W. Edwards, '20, general chairman; Ed Wegener, educational TV director; Mrs. Hollifield Jones, '02, script sub-committee chairman; and Telfair B. Peet, director. The dramatic narrative will portray the struggle to establish a college at Auburn.

Wegener, educational television director.

Other members of the college's Centennial committee are W. W. Hill, '97, Louie W. James, '30, Albert L. Thomas, '04, Jack Dunlop, '46, Louis O. Brackeen, '27, API director of publicity; Joseph B. Sarver, Jr., '37, alumni secretary; Jeff Beard, '32, athletic director; Sam Brewster, building and grounds director; Hubert Liverman, music department head.

Methodist tradition

CONTINUING THE theme of the early Methodist beginnings, API asked the Rev. Joel McDavid, pastor of the Auburn Methodist Church, to act as narrator for the dramatic narrative.

Taking speaking roles will be Albert L. Thomas, '04, retired engineering professor; Robert B. Skelton, head of the languages department; Jerome Kuderna, professor of education; Louis J. Compton, retired Army officer and city recorder; William P. Dorne and Dr. Frank B. Davis, department of speech; Dr. Zebulon Judd, former dean of the School of Education; Sam F. Brewster, director of buildings and grounds department; and Clyde H. Cantrell, director of API libraries.

Other faculty members and townspeople in the cast will be Col. B. Conn Anderson, Dr. Charles N. Anson, P. R. (Beedie) Bidez, '15, Dr. Norman A. Britton, Paul C. Burnett, P. O. Davis, '16, Jack M. Dunlop, '46, Dr. James E. Greene, '33, W. W. Hill, '97, Louie James, '30, Dr. J. M. Richardson, G. H. (Monk) Wright, '19, Harry F. Lowe, '43, Mrs. Elizabeth Glenn Wilder, Mrs. Molly Brasfield Sarver, '38, and Mrs. Mollie Hollifield Jones, '02.

About 35 students will appear.

On Educational TV

THE DRAMATIC NARRATIVE will be presented over the Alabama educational television network at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9. Special equipment will be placed in Samford Tower to relay television signals to the transmission stations.

Following the five scenes of the narrative, API President Ralph B. Draughon, '22, will dedicate a Centennial plaque commemorating 100 years of service to the state.

The plaque will be set in a granite base and will be placed in a Centennial garden now under construction in Ross Square. Work on a garden and pool was begun in September by the department of buildings and grounds.

The formal garden will include both annuals and perennials in flower beds. Magnolia and elm trees will be planted. Lawn grass and shrubbery will also be set out. The garden will be completed before the end of this year.

A central pool, 26 feet long and 17 feet wide, will be surrounded by a brick terrace. Stone benches will be erected at the edge of the paving. Walks will criss-cross the garden.

Class of '42 project

ORIGINALLY, plans to build a lily pool and garden in Ross Square were adopted as a class project by the Class of 1942.

Hugh Maddox, Carrollton, Ga., served as class president. Other officers were Dr. A. Lamar Blalock, Sylvania, Ga., (a veterinary graduate in 1943), vice president; Paul Malcolm Cain, Caracas, Venezuela, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Martha Gardiner Freeman, Dayton, Ohio, historian.

After the class adopted the project, numerous conferences were held with buildings and grounds department officials to work out plans.

Fraternity skit nights were staged in December, 1941, to raise funds for the pool. U. S. entrance into World War II forced indefinite postponement of the plans. The class then invested its money in U. S. War Bonds in the name of the college.

A bronze plaque will recognize the role of the Class of 1942 in planning the garden. The funds will be used to build the pool.

Pep rally, dance

PRECEDING the Centennial program, the traditional Homecoming pep rally will be held at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 9 at Cliff Hare Stadium.

Other events on the Friday night program include a dance in the Union Building Ballroom. The Auburn Players will present the comedy, "My Sister Eileen," in the Players' Theatre (formerly Y Hut.)

Alumni activities

HOMECOMING morning's program will include a coffee hour and alumni registration in the Union Building lobby, beginning at 8 a.m.

Bus tours of the campus will leave the Union Building every half hour from 8:30-11 a.m. Students will accompany each group as guides.

The annual business meeting of the Auburn Alumni Association will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 10, in the Union Building Banquet Room. As he has done for many years, W. W. Hill, '97, will open the meeting with an invocation.

President Thomas F. Hobart, '27, will preside and will present a report of Auburn Alumni Association activities. Executive Secretary Joseph B. Sarver, Jr., '37, and Treasurer Travis Ingram will give brief summaries of the year's work.

A president and three members of the executive committee will be elected. (See story on page 4.)

Reunion classes

MEMBERS of reunion classes of 1906, 1911 and 1931 will be seated together at the Homecoming luncheon in the Union Building Ballroom at 11:30 a.m. No formal program is planned.

Kickoff for the Auburn-Mississippi State game will be at 2 p.m. in Cliff Hare Stadium. The crowning of Miss Homecoming will be included in half-time ceremonies. The queen will be elected by Auburn students in a campus-wide vote Oct. 25.

Following the football game, fraternities and sororities will hold open houses. Many religious student centers have special activities scheduled.

Final reunion events will be banquets with classmates at 7 p.m. Saturday. Each class will hold a separate banquet.

Other activities for Saturday night will include the traditional Homecoming dance in the Student Affairs Building from 8 p.m. until midnight. The Auburn Players will present "My Sister Eileen" at 8:15 p.m. in the Players' Theatre.

Bill Streit Donates Sports Collection To Auburn Library

CHARLES WILLIAM (BILL) STREIT, '07, has given his extensive collection of books on sports to the API Library.

The Streit collection includes many volumes on football. Mr. Streit assembled the books during more than 40 years as an official, coach and leader in Southern athletics.

Clyde H. Cantrell, director of libraries at Auburn, said the collection will round out the library's holdings in most sports. "The publications on the Olympics are especially valuable," he added.

Bill Streit was a three-letter man at Auburn—in football, basketball and track. He returned to API in 1911 as assistant to his former coach, Mike Donahue. He has been a member of the U. S. Olympic Games Executive Committee six times.

During 32 years as a football official, Bill Streit worked 625 games. He has been active in Southern amateur track and traditionally serves as time keeper at the SEC meets in Birmingham each spring.

Mr. Streit has been third district NCAA representative on the honors court of the National Football Hall of Fame for the past five years.

The Birmingham businessman joined Southern Cement Co. in 1916. He is now president and general manager of the firm.

Mr. Streit will spend three months in Australia for the 1956 Olympics. On his return to the United States in January, he will attend a meeting of the honor court of the National Football Hall of Fame in St. Louis, Mo.

Enrollment Hits 8,409

ALMOST COMPLETE registration figures for the fall quarter of 1956 show that Auburn has 8,409 students, Registrar Charles W. Edwards, '20, told the Alumnews at press time.

Original pre-school estimates were 8,500 students. The 1955 fall quarter enrollment was 7,913, a previous high.

Registrar Edwards said he believed Auburn would have registered a student body of 10,000 this fall, if all students who had wanted to attend could have been accepted. The college closed out-of-state registration in mid-summer.

THE PICKLE BARREL type atomic reactor to be constructed at API during the current school year will contain uranium and radium from the Atomic Energy Commission. Dr. Walter Connolly, new member of the physics department, discusses the construction details of the sub-critical reactor to be used for teaching with Dr. Howard Carr, '36, head of the physics department. The reactor has been made possible by the loan of about $125,000 worth of uranium and radium from AEC. An Auburn Alumni Association gift will cover the major cost of installation.

J. D. Walker, '03, Gives Library Rare Books, Some First Editions

AN ENGINEER "with a love of books" has donated a significant collection of first editions to the API Library.

He is Joseph Darrah Walker, '03, a civil engineer in New Orleans. Mr. Walker is a native of Newberne. Since his graduation from API, he has made his home in New Orleans. He is registered No. 68, professional engineer in civil engineering in the State of Louisiana. Mr. Walker is associated with Lang Co., contractors.

The gift collection ranges from a medieval Biblical manuscript to modern literature. An edition of Hake-well's "Italy," published in 1818, contains India proof etchings, several of which were not included in other copies. "Parnassus on Wheels," now a very rare book, is signed by author Christopher Morley.

Others in the collection include first editions of Scott's "Ivanhoe," Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," Doyle's "Sherlock Holmes," Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Wallace's "Ben-Hur," and Lafcadio Hearn's "The Prince of Abyssinia."

The manuscript of the "Book of Isaiah" is done by hand on vellum, with handsome illuminated initial letters in full color. This is the Library's only book from the era before the invention of the printing press.

Clyde H. Cantrell, director of API Libraries, said, "This is one of the finest collections of rare books that has ever been given to the Library."

Alumni presidential nominee

Roy B. Sewell, '22

THE NOMINATING committee of the Auburn Alumni Association will present nominees for office at the annual Homecoming business meeting in the Auburn Union Building at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 10.

Chairman Clyde C. Pearson, '26, immediate past president of the Association, will make the following committee report:

For president, 1956-57: Roy B. Sewell, '22, Bremen, Ga.

For the three places on the executive committee, 1956-58: J. Gilmer Blackburn, '50, Decatur; Ken L. Lott, Jr., '41, Mobile; and M. H. (Mike)

Sparks, W. Frank Stone, James W. Thornton, Zack T. Trawick, Harry W. Watkins, D. D. Wendel, O. D. Williams.

NOMINEE for president of the Auburn Alumni Association is Roy B. Sewell, '22, of Bremen, Ga. Mr. Sewell's name will be officially placed before the Association at the Homecoming business meeting. He is president of Sewell Manufacturing Co. and a former member of the executive committee of the Alumni Association.

McCartney, '27, Gadsden.

Members of the nominating committee have met several times since their appointment by President Thomas F. Hobart, '27, March 24. As a result of notices carried in The Alumnews, several outstanding alumni were recommended to the nominating committee.

Members of the committee—in addition to Chairman Pearson—are James M. Brown, '46, Birmingham; J. Paul Calhoun, '30, Columbus, Ga.; Dr. James A. Naftel, '26, Auburn; and A. Raymond Trammell, '26, Eufaula.

The officers elected Nov. 10 will succeed President Hobart and Executive Committee Members Frank G. Crow, '26, Florence; Dr. James A. Naftel, '26, Auburn; and John Lewis Reese, '24, Pensacola, Fla.

Mr. Sewell, nominee for president of the Auburn Alumni Association, has served as president of the Sewell Manufacturing Co. of Bremen, Ga., since 1945. He is a member of the Class of 1922. Mr. Sewell was president of the Atlanta Auburn Club in 1946-47. He previously served on the executive committee of the Auburn Education Foundation.

Mr. Blackburn, nominee for the executive committee, is a tax attorney in Decatur. He graduated from API in accounting in 1950 before earning a law degree from the University of Alabama. Mr. Blackburn is current president of the Limestone-Morgan Auburn Club.

Mr. Lott, nominee for the executive committee, is assistant vice president of the Merchants National Bank of Mobile. He was graduated from Auburn in business administration in 1941. Mr. Lott served previously on the executive committee of the Auburn Association. He was recently reelected president of the Mobile Auburn Club.

Mr. McCartney, nominee for the executive committee, is a contractor in Gadsden. He is a member of the Class of 1927. Mr. McCartney is a former trustee of the Auburn Education Foundation.

Tigers Come Back

AUBURN'S TIGERS appeared on the comeback trail in October, after an opening game loss to the Tennessee Volunteers in Birmingham. The men from the Plains scored their first 1956 victory over Furman in a non-conference game at Auburn Oct. 6.

As The Alumnews has done in the past, we will present brief summaries of each Auburn game this fall.

Alumnews football correspondent for 1956 is Buddy Chambers, who is serving as assistant sports publicity director. Buddy is a sophomore from Monroeville. He is majoring in speech and will earn a double minor in journalism.

Games on Auburn's schedule for the rest of the season include Georgia Tech, Oct. 20, Atlanta; Houston, Oct. 27, Auburn; Florida, Nov. 3, Gainesville; Mississippi State, Nov. 10, Auburn; Georgia, Nov. 17, Columbus; Florida State, Nov. 24, Auburn; Alabama, Dec. 1, Birmingham. The Tigers met Kentucky Oct. 13.

Auburn 7, Tennessee 35

A CAPACITY crowd of 44,000 in Birmingham's Legion Field saw the Auburn Tigers fumble away any chance for victory over the Tennessee Vols as the War Eagles lost the ball four times within their own twenty.

All-America Tailback Johnny Majors earned the title of "SEC Back of the Week" as he turned the Auburn miscues into Tennessee touchdowns, gaining 166 yards running and passing, scoring once himself, and throwing two TD passes.

Majors had plenty of help from Tennessee standouts End Buddy Cruze, Tackles John Gordy and Charles Rader, Guard Bruce Burnham, and Fullback Tommy Bronson. And his substitute at tailback, Al Carter, did a fine job, too.

A Majors-Cruze pass led to the first quarter score with Majors hurdling the line for the final yard. Late in the second quarter, Tennessee struck quickly for two more six-pointers, the first coming on a fourth-down-and-one situation with Majors crossing up the Tigers' defense by throwing 34 yards to Cruze for a touchdown.

With twenty-six seconds remaining in the first half, Majors once again took to the air, throwing a 7-yard scoring aerial to End Edd Cantrell. The Vols had gotten in scoring position as Gordy had grabbed another Auburn fumble. That made the score 21-0 at halftime, and the story was much the same in the last half with Coach Bowden Wyatt's crew adding two more touchdowns.

The Tigers broke the ice in the fourth period as Coach Ralph Jordan's eleven drove 97 yards with Righthalf Lloyd Nix breaking through to paydirt from the one. Howell Tubbs added the PAT. Auburn's standout in the line was Guard Chuck Maxime. Fullback Jim Walsh led in rushing.

Auburn 41, Furman 0

AN IMPROVING Furman Purple Hurricane invaded the Plains and held the Auburn Tigers to a 13-0 lead at halftime, but the Plainsmen's flock of top-notch breakaway runners broke loose in the second half for a 41-0 victory.

All told, Coach Ralph Jordan's forces rolled up 587 yards, 524 of them on the ground, against the South Carolinians. The leading ground gainers were Left-half Tommy Lorino with 128 yards, Quarterback Howell Tubbs with 93, and Fullback Jim Walsh with 89.

It was a day of long runs with Lorino galloping 34 and Quarterback Jimmy Cook running 21 for the first-half tallies. Lorino traveled 55 yards to the Furman one, where Righthalf Billy Kitchens carried the first third-quarter score over. Kitchens tallied again in the same period, this time from the four, after Walsh's fine running had put the Tigers in scoring position.

The War Eagler's scoring was completed in the final period as Tubbs reached paydirt from 55 yards out. Righthalf Louis Preis made a spectacular 39-yard dash for the final six-pointer.

Tubbs kicked four extra points, and End Jerry Wilson booted the other one.

Furman's only scoring threat of the game came in the third period as Coach Homer Hobbs' youngsters marched 61 yards to the four, only to be thrown by the Tigers' more experienced defensive line. Guard Chuck Maxime and Ernie Danjean turned in a fine job, along with Tackles Dan Presley and Billy Austin.

Fall Salute To Auburn

A SALUTE to Auburn was combined with a men's fashion show in a "Kick-Off Review" in Birmingham Sept. 25. The show was sponsored by the Jefferson County Auburn Alumni Club, the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce and men's clothing stores in Birmingham.

During the review Miss Auburn and the Miss Alabama of 1956 were presented. Miss Auburn is Joyce Van Tassel, a junior from Mobile. The state's beauty queen is Anne Stuart Ariail of Birmingham. She attended API during the fall quarter of 1955.

Appearing in the show were the Greater Auburn Band, the Auburn Knights, drum majorettes, Men's Octet, cheerleaders, student leaders and a number of Birmingham singers and dancers. Athletic Director Jeff Beard, '32, general campus chairman for the show, spoke on the 1956 prospects for Auburn.

Proceeds from the review will be used for Auburn Band scholarships. About 5,000 persons attended.

SEC Resolution On Recruiting

RESOLUTIONS CONCERNING the recruitment of high school students as college athletes were adopted by the Southeastern Conference at a meeting in January, 1956. College representatives attending the meeting included presidents, athletic directors, coaches and members of faculty athletic committees.

The Alumnews reprints the resolutions below:

"Be It Resolved That,

"(1) On behalf of youth and the cause of intercollegiate athletics we ask all friends to cooperate with us. We specifically request that no alumnus or friends give any financial aid or other reward of value directly or indirectly to any athlete or any members of his family. Under Southeastern Conference and NCAA rules financial assistance can be offered only by a member institution through its regular scholarship committee.

"(2) Anyone who gives financial assistance, not permitted by rules, to athletes is contributing to the degradation of youth and to the disparagement of the good reputation of his institution. In the violation of rules which his institution is honor bound to obey and in corrupting youth, he does not represent his institution, but his institution is responsible to the Conference for his conduct. We challenge all to cooperate with our institutions in the exercise of their inescapable duty to maintain the highest ideals and unquestionable integrity for the proper development of youth.

"(3) We appeal to all who are interested in intercollegiate athletes and in helping to protect the integrity of our educational institutions to cooperate with us in our sincere efforts to preserve honest and wholesome athletics; to be outspoken in condemnation of the violation of rules; and to cooperate fully with the Commissioner of the Conference in his investigation of alleged violations or rules.

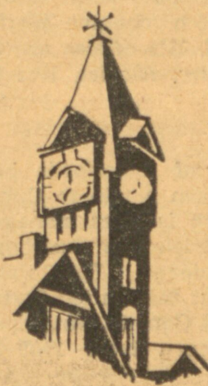

rate fully with the Commissioner of the Conference in his investigation of alleged violations or rules.

"(4) We call upon all friends of intercollegiate athletics to use their strong influence in the cause of honesty and fair dealing and to refrain from repeating wild rumors about financial aid to athletes. Groundless rumors have frequently been embarrassing to the boy and the institution concerned. Known violations of rules should be condemned and exposed, but wild rumors about violations should be as positively discouraged.

"(5) In the recruitment of athletes we are committed to the policy of not interfering with the studies of high school students. We commend the splendid efforts of Commissioner B. H. Moore along this line and his efforts toward procuring the cooperation of coaches and athletic directors in the maintenance of high standards of athletic competition.

"(6) College coaches and athletic directors are educators of boys and not just sports technicians. It is, therefore, their responsibility to conduct their respective programs in accordance with the mandates of rules and of the highest principles. They can help to promote the coaching profession to a higher level of educational relevance.

"(7) All alumni who participate in the recruitment of athletes or other students should observe the highest ethical standards. They should advocate their own institutions and carefully avoid criticisms of other institutions. The latter kind of activity is professionally unsound and unethical and, therefore, should not be tolerated. Surely competition among educational institutions should not be on a lower ethical plane than that maintained in business and professions."

To further the Auburn Alumni Association's programs of service to API, I am enclosing a check (or money order) for $5.00 (five dollars), payable to the Auburn Alumni Association. Please enroll me as an active member for 1956-57.

Died: Maj. Gen. Robert Ernest Noble, 85, world authority on mass sanitation who helped wipe out yellow fever during the building of the Panama Canal, in Anniston Sept. 18. He had been in declining health for several months. A native of Rome, Ga., Bob Noble entered Alabama A. and M. College at Auburn in 1887. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. After earning his B. S. degree from Auburn in 1890, he remained on the Plains to receive his master's degree the next year. He served as assistant state chemist and instructor in chemistry at Auburn from 1893-95.

Upon leaving the Auburn faculty, he enrolled at Columbia University's medical school, where he earned his M. D. degree in 1899. Dr. Noble entered the Army Medical Corps as a first lieutenant in 1901. He was an honor graduate of the Army Medical College in 1904. In 1905 he married Ella Lupton, daughter of a former chemistry professor at Auburn. Gen. and Mrs. Noble celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1955.

His best known work was with yellow fever in the Isthmus of Panama, but Dr. Noble fought the mosquito-borne disease in the Philippines, Puerto Rico, Ecuador and (after his Army retirement on a Rockefeller Commission) Africa. He received the Distinguished Service Medal from the U. S. Government and the French Legion of Honor for recruiting doctors for the Army and for his own overseas service in World War I. At the time he retired in 1925, Gen. Noble was assistant surgeon general of the Army Medical Corps.

Gen. Noble was president of the Auburn Alumni Association from 1928-30. He served as president of the Choccolocco (Northeast Alabama) Council of the Boy Scouts of America for 23 years, winning the Silver Beaver (state) and Silver Antelope (regional) awards for service to Scouting. He was also a member of the hospital board, Episcopal Church, Rotary Club and was active in educational and civic projects in Anniston. One of his hobbies was studying the early history of Anniston, which his father founded.

Gen. Noble was honored by his alma mater in 1955, when he was presented the A. S. Sullivan alumni award at the June commencement.

Survivors include Mrs. Ella Lupton Noble; one brother, Frank Noble, Woodland Hills, Calif.; and one sister, Mrs. Eloise Parker, Anniston.

Died: Dr. Benjamin Minge Duggar, MS, 84-year-old scientist who discovered aureomycin after he retired from college teaching, in New Haven, Conn., Sept. 10. Dr. Duggar, of Pearl River, N. Y., was visiting a daughter in Connecticut when he became ill. He was a native of Gallion in Hale County and was graduated from Mississippi State College in 1891. The next year he came to Auburn to earn a master's degree in chemistry. He was assistant director of the agricultural experiment station near Uniontown before continuing his education. He earned his Ph. D. degree in mycology and plant physiology at Cornell University in 1898. He also studied in Europe for several years.

Dr. Duggar was a botanist and plant pathologist. His special fields included the physiology of the potato and mushroom growing. He was the author of several books, including the first American text on plant pathology. Dr. Duggar had served as national president of several botanical and physiological associations and was a member of many scientific organizations.

During almost 50 years as a college teacher, Dr. Duggar served on the faculties of Cornell, University of Missouri, Washington University and the University of Wisconsin. In 1943 he retired as professor of physiology and economic botany at Wisconsin, a position he had held since 1927.

At 71, he began a new career with Lederle Laboratories, a Division of American Cyanamid Co., at Pearl River. Dr. Duggar's research in the field of antibiotics brought him world renown. He and a team of scientists working with him tested 600 soil samples before discovering a golden mold they named aureomycin. This "wonder drug" was first marketed in 1948, after exhaustive

Hugh Tamplin Dies After Heart Attack

LEONARD HUGH TAMPLIN, who served three generations of Auburn alumni from behind the counter at Toomer Drug Store, died of a heart attack Sept. 28. He was stricken while at work and died at the Lee County Hospital a few hours later.

He was widely known as "Mr. Hugh." Among his friends were the majority of Auburn students in each class. Townspeople said he could call as many alumni by name as anyone in the "loveliest village."

Mr. Tamplin was 66. He was born on a farm near Auburn. As a small boy he moved to town, where he attended elementary and high school. In 1908, when he was 18, he joined Sheldon (Shell) Toomer, '93, in the drug store on Toomer's Corner. Mr. Tamplin had worked there without interruption for 48 years.

A close follower of the Auburn Tigers, Mr. Tamplin saw all home games (while the drug store is closed) and went to Columbus to see the Georgia-Auburn battle each year. His hobbies were hunting and fishing. Mr. Tamplin was a member of the Methodist Church for more than 50 years. He had been a Rotarian.

Mr. Tamplin lived at the family residence on Opelika Road. Survivors include his sister, Marye Tamplin, '25, Auburn; five brothers, Frank Tamplin, Ray Tamplin, '20, Cline Tamplin, '22, and Willie Roe Tamplin, '33, all of Auburn; and Louie Tamplin, '28, Ozark.

Wins Distinguished Flying Cross

Col. Harry Bush Sets Helicopter Record

A NEW WORLD'S record for non-stop helicopter flight has been set by Lt. Col. Harry Leonard Bush, '40, and a fellow Army pilot.

They flew a twin-rotor helicopter non-stop for 1,199.07 miles. The H-21 made 14 trips between two New Jersey cities which are 85 miles apart during the 11 hour and 58 minute flight on Aug. 11.

Flying with Col. Bush was Maj. William C. Dysinger of Stillwater, Okla. They broke the former 778.3-mile record for a non-stop helicopter flight, which was set in France three years ago.

Soon after establishing the new record, Col. Bush was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross at the National Air Show in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Col. Bush, a native of Waverly, attended high school in Auburn. He earned his B. S. degree in textile engineering from Auburn in 1940. The next year he entered the Army as a second lieutenant.

After brief service in the artillery, he became an Army pilot, Maj. Bush served in Europe during World War II. He flew a Cub as a liaison officer. In addition to his new decoration, Col. Bush holds the Bronze Star and the Air Medal with two clusters.

He now holds a commission in the Regular Army. He earned a degree in aeronautical engineering from Princeton University in 1952. Col. Bush was assigned to Fort Rucker when it was re-activated as a pilot training center.

At the time of his non-stop flight, Col. Bush was assigned to Rucker. In September, he was transferred to Fort Leavenworth, Kan. He is now a student at the Army Command and General Staff College.

Mrs. Bush is the former Mariolive Strozier, '44. They have two sons, Harry L. Bush, Jr., 14, and William Bush, 2.

Auburn Navigator Takes Key Role In Rescue At Sea

WITH FIRST LT. Harry E. Watlington, '53, as navigator, an SA-16 Albatross from Manston, England, recently saved 13 Air Force officers and airmen after their life rafts had drifted in the English Channel for approximately 10 hours.

The men on the life rafts were undergoing survival training near the French coast, when they drifted out under adverse weather conditions.

The Albatross from the 66th Air Rescue Squadron at Royal Air Force Station in Manston was dispatched to search for the survivors. On the French coast, the plane located the ground party which had last seen the missing men. As the aircraft circled, the men on the ground wrote several signals in the sand. Beneath the phrase, "13 men," were arrows pointing in the direction in which the raft had drifted.

Lt. Watlington used the arrows to set his course. The SA-16 located the first raft two hours and 25 minutes after leaving its home station. The water was rough, dusk was falling and visibility was down to half a mile. Nevertheless, the pilot made an open sea landing 150 yards from the raft.

After taking the survivors aboard, the crew found the second raft 25 minutes later.

With 13 new passengers, the heavily loaded plane was unable to take off again. The pilot taxied the Albatross 12 miles to Le Havre, France, where the crew and survivors spent the night.

Lt. Watlington was graduated from Auburn with a B. S. degree in industrial management in 1953. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

A native of Montgomery, Lt. Watlington has been a member of the 66th Air Rescue Squadron since December, 1954.

'Baldy' Roe, A. D. Butler Hospitalized Following Bike Accident, Fall

TWO API teachers are spending their time in hospital beds instead of in classrooms, due to early fall accidents. They are John W. (Baldy) Roe, associate professor of languages, and Allen Dexter Butler, assistant professor of English.

Mr. Roe was injured Sept. 25 in an accident at West Glenn and College Street in Auburn, while riding his bicycle. During a rainstorm, he was struck by a student-driven automobile and was knocked from his bike. He received a fractured pelvic bone.

Professor Roe is a patient at the Lee County Hospital in Opelika. His doctor reported he is getting along well, but will be hospitalized at least until the end of October.

He has been a member of the Auburn faculty since 1923. Professor Roe teaches German and other modern languages.

Mr. Butler was vacationing at his family home in Liberty, N. C., when his accident occurred. While making repairs to a roof, a ladder broke with him. In the fall, Mr. Butler broke his right leg and severely injured his right shoulder.

Professor Butler is a patient at a Greensboro, N. C., hospital. He is getting along well, but will be hospitalized for several months.

He has been on the API English faculty since 1927.

Letters and cards should be sent to Professor Roe at Lee County Hospital, Opelika, Ala.

Professor Butler will receive mail at his family home, Liberty, N. C., or at Cone Memorial Hospital, North Elm Street, Greensboro, N. C.
